WHY PAGAN BUDDHIST CALENDAR?

Sangharakshita (founder of Triratna) said that Buddhism would only truly take root in the west when there was a revival of paganism. Like Padmasambhava befriending the spirits of the land in Tibet so that the first Buddhist monastery could be built there, in the UK we need to befriend, respect and integrate with the spirits of place and nature based spiritual traditions that exist here. By following the Wheel of the Year we acknowledge key seasonal moments and celebrate in alignment with this land. As paganism and druidry were oral traditions, so much was destroyed and lost throughout history, so it can seem that these festivals are 'newly created', however they are mapped with the rhythms of nature, remembered, and pieced together through many means- from archeological study to ceremonial dreaming. It is worth noting the full moon is important in both buddhism and paganism, so an auspicious time to practice!

We aim to cultivate and nurture an emerging western Buddhism. Respectfully and gratefully honouring lineages in the east, and drawing in spirits and rhythms of the west.
